

ABOUT US

Founded in 2002, The Montague Reporter is a local independent weekly community print newspaper, published on Thursdays. The Reporter, started as a small grassroots endeavor in late 2002, has since grown to be a pillar of the community. With an estimated 2,000+ readers and store located sales, our paper provides an important community service.

We are a non-profit organization, supported by and operating for the benefit of the communities we cover: the five villages of Montague, and the towns of Gill, Leverett, Wendell, and Erving.

Headed by a volunteer board of directors, and run by a mixed volunteer and freelance staff, the Reporter, provides news, arts, and feature coverage to nine villages and towns in Western Massachusetts — proud communities with a vibrant history and engaged citizens. Help us continue to write the first draft of history! We welcome news, opinions, ads, calendar listings, volunteer help and other contributions.
